

Former Editors-in-Chief on Major Developments During Their Time in Office from a Present-Day Perspective

DOI 10.1007/s12599-008-0025-0

The Authors

Professor Dr. Dr. h. c. Norbert Szyperski

Editor-in-chief from 1971 to 1991
University of Cologne
Norbert.Szyperski@uni-koeln.de

Professor Dr. Dr. h. c. Peter Mertens

Editor-in-chief from 1990 to 2000
University of Erlangen-Nürnberg mertens@wiso.uni-erlangen.de

Professor Dr. Wolfgang König

Editor-in-chief from 1998 to 2008
University of Frankfurt a.M. koenig@wiwi.uni-frankfurt.de

Abstract

In this interview the former editors-in-chief Norbert Szyperski, Peter Mertens, and Wolfgang König outline the major developments in the field of information and communication systems as well as the most important decisions of the WIRTSCHAFTSINFORMATIK journal during their time in office. They discuss these issues from a present-day perspective and additionally highlight the field's and the journal's future challenges.

Citation

Szyperski N, Mertens P, König W (2009) Former Editors-in-Chief on Major Developments During Their Time in Office from a Present-Day Perspective. Bus Inf Sys Eng 1(1):8-13

Link to Full Text

<http://www.springerlink.com/content/e213337823858171/fulltext.pdf>