

About the Authors

Manasvi Kumar is a third-year doctoral student in the Department of Management Information Systems at the University of Arizona. He received his master's degree in Business Analytics from UIC, Chicago, USA in 2018 and a dual-degree from IIT Kharagpur, Kharagpur, India in 2016. His primary research interests include deception detection and human-computer interaction.

Gondy Leroy, PhD, is Professor in MIS at the University of Arizona. Her research focuses on natural language processing and applied machine learning. She has won grants from NIH, AHRQ, NSF, Microsoft Research and several foundations, totaling more than $2.4M as principal investigator. She earned a combined BS and MS (1996) in cognitive, experimental psychology from the Catholic University of Leuven, (1996) and a MIS (1999) and PhD (2003) in management information systems from the University of Arizona. She serves on the editorial board of the Journal of Database Management, International Journal of Social and Organizational Dynamics in IT, Health Systems, Journal of Business Analytics, and co-chairs several sessions, tracks, workshops, and conferences focusing on design science and healthcare IT. She is the author of the book "Designing User Studies in Informatics (Springer, 2011). Finally, she is an active contributor to increasing the diversity and inclusion in computing and research and leads the "Tomorrow's Leaders Equipped for Diversity" program at the University of Arizona's Eller School of Management.

Proof

Copyright © 2021 by the Association for Information Systems. Permission to make digital or hard copies of all or part of this work for personal or classroom use is granted without fee provided that copies are not made or distributed for profit or commercial advantage and that copies bear this notice and full citation on the first page. Copyright for components of this work owned by others than the Association for Information Systems must be honored. Abstracting with credit is permitted. To copy otherwise, to republish, to post on servers, or to redistribute to lists requires prior specific permission and/or fee. Request permission to publish from: AIS Administrative Office, P.O. Box 2712 Atlanta, GA, 30301-2712 Attn: Reprints or via e-mail from ais@aisnet.org.