Learning Panel: Teaching Courses via the Web

Follow this and additional works at: http://aisel.aisnet.org/amcis1998

Recommended Citation

http://aisel.aisnet.org/amcis1998/383

This material is brought to you by the Americas Conference on Information Systems (AMCIS) at AIS Electronic Library (AISeL). It has been accepted for inclusion in AMCIS 1998 Proceedings by an authorized administrator of AIS Electronic Library (AISeL). For more information, please contact elibrary@aisnet.org.
Learning Panel

Teaching Courses via the Web

Panelists: Linda E. Johnson, Panel Moderator, Western Kentucky University
          Yvonne Lederer Antonucci, Widener University
          Dennis Bialaszewski, Indiana State University
          Ray J. Blankenship, Western Kentucky University
          Gabriele Piccoli from Louisiana State University

The panel discussion consists of three primary components:

1. Each panelist will describe first-hand experiences with the design and implementation of web-based courses.
2. Each panelist will provide an overview of the major challenges they faced in the delivering web courses.
3. Each panelist will present a comparison of the effectiveness of web-based courses versus traditional pedagogies.

Panel participants are all actively involved in the design and delivery of web courses.